

Struggling with struggle? Ready to quit grit?

Think Like an Artist!

Stream of Consciousness, Productive Struggle, Reflection, Revision, Constructive Analysis & Feedback,
Evaluation, Grit, Rigor...

Sounds like classroom utopia, right?

Well, what if I told you that these qualities are Inherently found in the mindset of every artist?

Come and spend the day with me and I'll share with you my strategies for supporting my students with inquiry and critique-based thinking and practices that foster an artist mindset and lead to success for you and your students.

We'll also talk gifted identification, stereotypes and how not to fall into the gifted trap, so you'll know when to put on the cape and rescue them and when to stay out of their way.

Because, after all,
EVERYONE needs a HERO - even gifties.
